Dear Erika

Thank you very much for your letter and further information regarding the Emergency First Response Training Courses. SkillsActive is the Sector Skills Council for Active Leisure and Learning in the UK which oversees education and training in the sectors of sport, fitness, outdoors and children's play. Health and Safety are a primary issue in our sectors and we are pleased to offer our support for your courses. SkillsActive does not evaluate and approve First Aid courses, rather we recognise those awards approved by the Health and Safety Executive, we note you gained their approval in 2003.

SkillsActive operates a Register of Fitness Instructors in the UK called the Register of Exercise Professionals, there are over 17,000 instructors on the Register. One of the entry criteria for the Register is holding an up to date CPR certificate and I am pleased to confirm that the Register of Exercise Professionals will recognise Emergency First Response certificates as appropriate evidence of CPR certification.

Please don't hesitate to contact me if I can provide further information on our work.

Yours sincerely

Ben Gittus
